

GIANTS WIN HARD GAME: 5-4

Stengel's Home Run
Beats Yanks In Ninth

YANKEE STADIUM, NEW YORK, October 10.—(By the A. P.)—The ancient Casey Stengel, with two men out in the ninth and the count three and two against him, tore off a circuit drive to the delight of sixty thousand spectators and the Giants walked off with the first game of the world series, five to four. The National League champions concentrated their attack in the third which they drove Hoyt from the mound and Bush, who succeeded him held the Giants helpless until the mighty Casey's blow. The Yankees out-hit their opponents and Ruth got a three-bagger in four trips to the plate.

The American league champions scored three of their runs off Watson in the first two innings and he was taken out for a pinch hitter. "Rosy" Ryan succeeded him and curve-balled the Yanks to death.

YANKEE STADIUM, NEW YORK, October 10.—(By the Associated Press)—A former Boston batter, Pitcher John Watson, and Catcher Hank Gowdy, were the selection of Manager John J. McGraw to lead his world champion Giants today in the first game of their attempt to win a third successive world's championship from the New York Yankees.

Waite Hoyt, the boy hero, the 1921 classic, was chosen by Manager Miller Huggins to take the mound for the American League champions. Wally Schang, the veteran, was his battery mate.

It was the first world's series for Watson who came with Gowdy from the Braves in mid-season and his selection was a surprise, as it was believed the veteran left-hander, Arthur Neft, would get the call. It was Gowdy's first participation in the classic since 1914, when he was the hero of George Stallings' "miracle team."

Between 55,000 and 60,000 were in the stands, it was estimated, when Umpire Evans called "batting up."

The old record was 42,620 spectators, who saw a Boston-Brooklyn game in Boston in 1915.

A muster stroke by Manager John J. McGraw, of the New York Nationals enabled the Giants to take the lead from the New York Americans in the third inning after the Yankees had batted out a three run lead. When the fourth inning started the score was 4 to 3.

By substituting with the rapidity of a field marshall ordering divisions about, McGraw broke down the pitching of Waite Hoyt and the Giants made four runs off four hits, a base on balls and two fielders' choices.

Babe Ruth scored the first run for the Yankees in the first inning on Bob Meusel's hit. The Yankees added two more, in the second on hits by Ward, Schang, Wilt and Dugan, giving the American leaguers a commanding position when the Giants came to bat at the beginning of the fifth.

In the third inning McGraw threw in three substitutes to bolster up his forces, and in ensuing attack Heinie Groh, the diminutive third baseman, was the battering ram with a long triple to right that bounded off a score board and away from Ruth. Kelly had previously scored and Groh was brought home by Frisch's single, giving the Giants one run lead.

"Rosie Bill" Ryan, replaced Watson in the pitcher's box and Frank Snyder took the place of Gowdy for the Giants at the beginning of the fourth. The Giants' attack drove Hoyt from the mound and "bullet" Joe Bush went into the box for the Yankees.

Huge Crowd Out To See Baseball Classic

NEW YORK, October 10.—(By the Associated Press)—In baseball's greatest enclosure, the massive stadium of the Yankees on the banks of the Harlem river, another world's series started today. It is the nineteenth series of world honors in modern baseball history and the third consecutive meeting of the New York Giants of the National League and the New York Yankees of the American League.

World series fans awoke today to find Indian summer weather for the game and it was warm at game time, with little wind.

Long hours before 2:00 o'clock, when the game was started, crowds began gathering at the many entrances of the stadium, scurrying for places. In the lines at the ticket booths, Ward has been sent out from baseball headquarters that all the reserved seats, 10,000 of them, had been sold, but there were more than 50,000 to be purchased for the unreserved sections, yet the early birds were there to be certain.

Lines of policemen were present to maintain order in the waiting lines and keep the roads clear for regular traffic. But the early crowds were orderly. They had plenty of entertainment, when with a grand organ man with the inevitable corndog trousers, bandana neck and somersaulting monkey; a soloist singing (Continued on Page Thirteen)

BLOW UP DRY AGENT'S HOME

Caught In The Ruins

Earn $36
A Sunday

LARCHMONT, N. Y., October 10.—(By the Associated Press)—Four bricklayers were fined $5.00 each here yesterday for working on the Sabbath.

"That's all right," they said as they pointed to the hills. "Counting the double overtime, we make $36 for every Sunday's work."

Knights Welcomed

To Capital City

COLUMBUS, O., October 10.—(By the Associated Press)—Knights Templar of the Grand Commandery of Ohio, were formally welcomed to Columbus at the opening session of their three-day meeting to-morrow of Governor Donahey and Mayor Thomas.

Approximately 1,000 Knights are in the city for the conclave, in addition to almost 3,000 of their wives and other members of their families.

The blast partially wrecked the city hall opposite the Pearce home, the Spragg restaurant, the home of Mrs. Mary Merriman, and broke windows in three score residences.

The dynamite, placed under the front of Pearce's house, wrecked the structure and it collapsed inward, the walls and roof falling into the basement. Pearce, his wife and 17 months old baby were precipitated into the cellar with the debris.

Pearce extricated himself, rescued his baby and then with the aid of neighbors dug his wife from the ruins after an hour's hard work. The baby was cut and bruised and Mrs. Pearce had her back injured and suffered greatly from shock.

Mrs. Merriman's home adjoining, was so badly wrecked, that a lady who had been seriously ill, had to be removed from the rottering structure via ladders from the second floor.

The damage caused by the explosion, is estimated in excess of twenty thousand dollars.

Miners enroute to work claim to have seen four strangers standing on a corner near the Pearce home and others report they saw an automobile with several men passengers leaving the town at a high rate of speed shortly before the blast.

Sheriff Ed. Lucas and deputies of Jefferson county are working on the theory that liquor law violators prompted by Pearce were responsible for the outrage and according to latest reports, a suspect at Piney Fork, a mining town near Smithfield, is under surveillance.

Pearce claims he has received no threatening letters, but has been openly threatened by bootleggers arrested recently.

The dynamiting of the Pearce home this morning, is a continuation of attempts to destroy dry agents and their families, which have been in progress throughout Jefferson county for the past two years. While two dry officers have been murdered in the city, five others who were formerly connected with this business, have been murdered elsewhere.

Mike Velty was the first slain. He was induced into an automobile and shot and his body thrown out along the main highway a mile from this city.

Charles (Dixie) Billin, one of the most active agents since prohibition was enacted, was murdered with his own revolver in an alley in this city last Christmas night.

The home of John Cole, a village marshal, who makes his home in this city, was dynamited ten weeks ago, but no one was injured.

The home of John C. McCoy, marshal of Richmond village, was dynamited seven weeks ago and badly wrecked, but McCoy and his family escaped injury.

Last Friday night Marshal McCoy and his son-in-law, Ferdinand Eoff, were shot on a lonely road near Richmond. Since the shooting the grand jury has been trying to settle a controversy between McCoy claiming he and his son-in-law were shot from ambush and others claiming they were accidentally shot when McCoy's rifle was accidentally discharged.

During the career of Velty as the leading dry operator here, four of his deputies were reported killed in various parts of this country and one was slain after making his way back to Italy.

In none of the above cases has a conviction of the guilty parties been secured; in none of the instances have any arrests been made, excepting for the slaying of Velty and after being confined in jail several months, the three suspects in this case were released for lack of evidence.

Fire On Dry Agent

YOUNGSTOWN, O., October 10.—(By the Associated Press)—Two men fired three ineffectual shots at John N. Carothers, special dry agent, when he stopped an automobile which he suspected of carrying liquor early today. The man ran into a building and escaped. A search of the building disclosed 15 gallons of liquor, police said.

Towns Menaced
By Forest Fires

DULUTH, MINN., October 10.—(By the Associated Press)—Forest fires are raging over the northern parts of Minnesota, Wisconsin and Michigan. Five towns are seriously threatened, one life has been lost. Great Lakes navigation and bus line service are hampered by smoke and thousands of dollars worth of property has been destroyed.

Hundreds of small fires which have been burning for some time united and became a menace as they swept on with renewed vigor under an all-day west wind yesterday.

Last night Governor Blaine, of Wisconsin, ordered out the Superior Unit of the Wisconsin National Guard to fight the fire raging through the state park at Manitowau Falls.

Hundreds of men are bucking through heavy brush to try to save the villages of Blueberry, a small Douglas county community, and Lake Nebagamon also in jeopardy. Three farms north of Brule have been burned out and all cattle destroyed.

Ontonagon, the seat of Ontonagon county, is threatened by fires surrounding the village and the town of Green, six miles away, is in danger.

Juniper estimate sixty square miles already have been burned over.

Farmers in that locality, as well as in several in Houghton, Keweenaw and Baraga counties, are moving to open spaces for safety.

Delegations from all of the 78 Ohio counties in Wisconsin are dotted with flames. Breathing there is described as torture and heavy smoke hangs low over the land. Navigation on Lake Superior has become a serious problem, the smoke covering the water more densely than the heaviest fog. Wisconsin Highway Number 10, between Ashland and Hurley, has been made impassable by flames and smoke.

Now Hurley, the entire woods is burning and the whole town of Drummond, west of Ashland, turned out to fight fires. At Kimball, Ashland county, considerable loss from burning of cut timber is reported. Brush fires raged between Saxon and Lake Superior. A number of buildings have been destroyed by the fire near the Wisconsin-Michigan boundary between Houghton and Keweenaw. More than a dozen small fires, mostly brush and prairie, burned by high winds, reached serious proportions in all directions from Hibbing, Minn., last night.

A large number of men and fire apparatus were rushed to a series blaze at Little Swan. The heavy smoke in that section forced buses plying between Duluth and Hibbing to change their routings.

Mildred Kotin, three, who wandered into the woods near Mohawk, Michigan, and was burned to death was the first person reported killed by the flames.

Officer Strikes Prisoner; Is Suspended For Ten Days By Chief

Patrolman James Downs was suspended by Chief J. S. Distel for ten days without pay, the suspension order coming last night following a verbal tilt between the officers which grew out of the chief reprimanding the patrolman for striking a man named Charles Jude, 35 years old, whom he had arrested at Seventh and Franklin streets shortly before for intoxication.

The clash occurred at police headquarters when Downs struck the prisoner for alleged calling him a vile name and Chief Distel promptly interfered with the patrolman's treatment of the prisoner which Downs is said to have resented. Then came the order setting down the patrolman for ten days for alleged insubordination.

The suspended officer has been a member of the force for about two years and during that time has patrolled various beats.

A formal charge of intoxication will be required to appear in Municipal court to meet the complaint.

Auto Caroms Off Two Machines, Turns Over On Chillicothe Street; Three Hurt

Three men, George Stump, Louis Cook and Tom Litz, of the West Side had narrow escapes from serious injury about 5:30 Tuesday night when Stump's Ford touring car turned over on Chillicothe street, between Sixth and Seventh, after the machine had careered off two Fords parked along the east curb.

Stump was driving north on Chillicothe street and claims the accident was caused by George Champlin, of Lucasville, whose front wheel went out towards the street car track, so that Stump's rear wheel caught on the hub cap of Champlin's machine. After catching on the hub cap the Stump machine was thrown against the front fender of a light truck driven by Harold Layman, who had his machine just ahead of the Champlin car. After turning over the truck the Stump car turned over, pinning all three men under it. Stump and Litz were in the front seat and Cook in the back seat. Passers-by lifted the machine off the men and it was soon found that they were not seriously injured.

Litz's hand was badly bruised.

Cook suffered a laceration on the left knee and Stump's rear wheel caught on the hub cap of Champlin's machine. After catching on the hub cap the Stump machine was thrown

Churns During Delay

NEW YORK, Oct. 10.—Departure of the steamship Mauretania was delayed 20 minutes today on account of a baby's perambulator. The carriage, property of young John Kircheistein, Jr., who is en route to London with his parents, arrived at the dock after the vessel had started. John's mother stamped her foot and insisted he could not see London without it and the giant steamship waited while obliging sailors hoisted the vehicle to the deck.

SAGE TEA DANDY TO DARKEN HAIR

You can turn gray, faded hair beautifully dark and lustrous almost overnight if you'll get a bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound" at any drug store. Millions of bottles of this famous Sage Tea Recipe, improved by the addition of other ingredients, are sold annually, says a well-known druggist here, because it darkens the hair so naturally and evenly that no one can tell it has been applied.

Those whose hair is turning gray or becoming faded have a surprise waiting them, because, after one or two applications the gray hair vanishes and your looks become luxuriantly dark and beautiful.

This is the age of youth. Grayhaired unattractive folks aren't wanted around so get busy with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound to-night and you'll be delighted with your dark handsome hair and your youthful appearance within a few days.

Want To

Secretary Hughes made his suggestion about an informal commission of inquiry as early as last December and about the only thing that Mr. Coolidge has diverged on foreign policy has been an expression which indicated that the Hughes speech still remained the policy of the United States government. In that speech, Mr. Hughes laid down the proposition that unofficial persons representing each country, but necessarily each government, could sit down and estimate the capacity of Germany to pay and the possibilities of extending credit to Germany when once a satisfactory settlement is reached. No government was to be committed to any acceptance of the plan but was to have the right to approve or disapprove the findings and to act upon or ignore the report made.

The theory back of this plan was that once the representatives of all concerned did get into conference with the sincere purpose of reaching a settlement, an adjustment was inevitable. Mr. Hughes hoped at the time to avert an invasion of the Ruhr but Premier Polonais was so intent on making that move that the Hughes proposal was for diplomatic reasons construed by the French government as an informal and unofficial proposal and France is therefore in the position of being able to accept the proposition now if she desires.

With the ending of passive resistance the general belief was that a direct settlement between France and Germany was forthcoming. But the disturbed condition of affairs inside Germany has revived the idea that the co-operation of the German people and the encasillation of political elements in Germany will not be brought about until some sign of stability appears from the outside to instill confidence. The fact that an international loan would unquestionably come out of the proceedings of an international commission such as Mr. Hughes proposed would have a powerful effect on economic conditions in Germany. Bankers and business men are hopeful that an economic settlement can yet be made and that's why the comment of Mr. Lloyd-George that it is still time to act on the Hughes plan is regarded here as a significant boost for the Hughes proposal back of which it is known the British and German governments are ready to stand.

It is pertinent to note that treasury officials in denying rumors of unemployment and pessimistic reports about future business conditions do not fail to allude to the possible adverse effect which European conditions may have on American markets. Farm organizations are beginning to take an interest in improving Europe's purchasing power so that a fight for co-operation with Europe might set a different line up than that which developed over the League of Nations or World Court issues. It seems almost certain that the group which favored the International Economic Conference a year ago will be found supporting the Hughes plan for a commission of inquiry into the reparations problem. Should sufficient support develop it would not be surprising if further inquiries were made of France as to the possible acceptance at this time of the Hughes plan.

Hope Ranger, daughter of Joe
Ranger, is missing and a reward of a hundred thousand dollars is offered by her wealthy father for her safe return. Assisting in the search for Hope are her father's two friends, Justice High, attorney, and Juarez Charlie, adventurer.

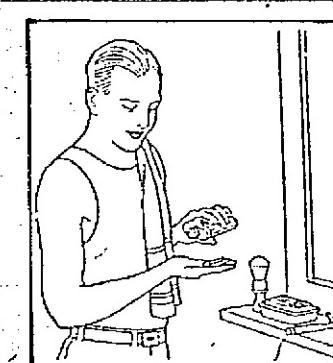

A command comes from Hope's abductors for Ranger to deposit in a specified place a hundred thousand dollars worth of bonds. This is done according to instructions. At Dr. Bristow's sanitarium a friendship arises between Dr. George Kelsey, who is detained there, and Vera Copley, patient, who is registered as Nurse Anna Copley's sister. Alderman Higgins is making his home at the hospital and Dr. Morton is an attendant there.

She was same. He knew it. He could not be self-confident. The idea that a person of her self-control, her clear perception, was harboring a delusion was nonsense. And if she said she was with Hope Ranger, it was so. He believed her. He required no proof before he gave her a simple word.

Door-like, though, he kept mostly intruding his decision with movements from the books, and it struck him that he had read only a day or two before a passage which seemed to have a diverse application.

He reached over to his bookshelf to take down the volume he wanted and as he did so, a folded, yellowed piece

Joseph Switalski, C. W. Blerley and John Beutel left Tuesday for Dayton, where they will attend the meeting of the Ohio Real Estate Association.

At present there are 28 patients in Hemstead Hospital, and most of them were reported convalescent Tuesday.

Our digestive system with a little help will pick out of a diversified diet what the body needs to sustain health. It is the sour stomach, gassiness and acid condition that starts trouble all along the line, particularly with people getting on in years. If they will use Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets after eating the stomach will sweeten; eggs, milk, cheese and meat will be digested; gas will not form and the system will thus get nourishment and strength uninhibited by indigestion and harmful fermentation. Get a 60-cent box of these wonderful tablets and learn what it means to enjoy meals without consequent indigestion.

Bristow's head snapped back, and tilted farily off his feet, he went backward to land across a leather couch, several feet away, where he lay dead to the world.

Kelsey snatched the hypodermic from the floor, and jerking open the cuff of Bristow's shirt, pushed it back and drove the needle into his arm. "There, I guess that will hold you for a while!"

He drew his cap down over his eyes, and clasping his hands behind his head, stretched his feet out lazily.

The nurse came toward them, and Hope, with a swift movement, slipped her pencil beneath her on the bench. She looked nervously about and then, as the woman stood before her, she glanced up with troubled anxiety.

"I've got to make clear to you that I would be at the meeting without fail."

"Then we can manage it!" There was a thrill in her voice. "Listen!"

And while she scribbled, she unfolded to him a plan so simple and yet so supremely audacious that it took his breath. Before she had half finished, he had caught her idea and was on fire with it.

He drew his cap down over his eyes, and clasping his hands behind his head, stretched his feet out lazily.

The nurse came toward them, and Hope, with a swift movement, slipped her pencil beneath her on the bench. She looked nervously about and then, as the woman stood before her, she glanced up with troubled anxiety.

"I've lost my pencil," she said. "I was writing a beautiful story, but what can I do without a pencil?"

Kelsey, as if he hadn't noticed her before, took a pencil from his pocket and handed it to her. She thanked him and began to write again.

"She'll keep that up for hours," the nurse smiled at Kelsey. "Not a word out of her, and never moving from the spot. Lucky for me, too. Her sister is on the sick list and I've got charge of Verna, but my hands are full this afternoon with Miss Susy Doane. She's saying mousers peeping out from behind every bush, trying to flirt with her."

She was interrupted by a scream. The patient she had just left was bucking away in terror from a pinching gardener.

"All right, Miss Susy," called the nurse. "We won't speak to you. You'll be right here and protect you."

She turned to the girl on the bench. "Now you'll stay here, dear, until I come for you, won't you?" Then she hurried away.

"There's only one thing that bothers me," Hope resumed the discussion of their plan, "and that's the question of time. They force us to go in at 6 o'clock, you know, and you may not be able to do your part so soon. If not, I must stay behind."

"I will never leave without you," Kelsey declared firmly.

They talked a moment or two longer, and then Kelsey, giving a start as if he had just awakened from a reverie, got up and walked back to the house.

His sleepless night, the full realization of the dangers that threatened Hope, the feeling that he was about to embark on the most momentous adventure of his life had left him haggard and pale.

Back in the office again, he worked steadily for a few minutes, and then dropped his pen and pressed his hands to his temples with an uncontrollable groan.

"Something the matter, Doctor?" Bristow's secretary, who was working across the room, looked up sympathetically.

"A touch of my old enemy, neuralgia," Kelsey answered. "I slept in a draft last night."

"Why don't you lay off?" urged the secretary. "I'll explain to Dr. Bristow."

"No," said Kelsey drearily; "I got stuck. It's rather important to get these notes off this afternoon. I had a pretty bad twinge just now, but it may pass away."

But again and again during the afternoon he writhed in agonizing pain. After the secretary left at five o'clock, he made hardly any pretense at writing, but sat with his head in his hands, twisting about in his chair as each fresh paroxysm seized him.

At about ten minutes of six Bristow came in, wearing a cap and a motor coat over his evening clothes, ready to start for town; and he at once noticed the condition of his collaborator.

"What's wrong, man?" he asked quickly. "You look done up."

One of his ghostly neuralgia attacks. Kelsey tried to suppress another groan. "I'm afraid I have been able to accomplish much this afternoon. The damned thing has been growing worse all day, and although I've tried off my usual remedies, I don't seem to get on top of it. I'm wondering if you will give me a shot of morphine—a good stuff one?"

"Surely," Bristow laid down his gloves, and passing into a laboratory just off the office, prepared his hypodermic.

At last, the Doctor was back. Kelsey had already taken off his coat and rolled up his shirt sleeve, and now he apathetically extended his left arm.

But as Bristow bent over to apply the needle, Kelsey's right shot up in a quick, wicked smash to the Doctor's jaw. A good boxer in his college days, he had never driven to the button with a better aim.

Dear Dolly—Please tell me where and how to get the census report of Greenup county, Ky., for the year 1900. TIMES READER. I should think you could get it by writing to the county clerk of Greenup county, at Greenup, Ky.

Dear Dolly—I am going to a boy that I like real well, but he has broken two dates with me and I don't like that very well. Some told me they saw him with another girl, but he always frames up some kind of an excuse everytime he doesn't come to see me and I am getting tired of his way of doing. He has told me so much stuff that I can't believe him and I can't trust him. What would you do about it?

Dolly, tell me the meaning of postage stamps. BLUE BELL.

I felt that way about it; I sure would get rid of him. Unless you are willing to accept his excuses, why worry about him. Just let him go and get some other man to beat you around. Never again will I print the postage stamp signs. I told you or someone that the last time I printed them.

Dear Dolly—Will you please tell me Richard the Wizard's address. I want to write to him and ask him some questions.

BLUE EYES. He hasn't informed me of his present whereabouts, but he may be addressed: Ralph Richards, Tribune Building, Chicago, Illinois.

Dear Dolly—There is man in this town who has a ring that belongs to me and he refuses to give it up. I have written him two letters asking for it and he would not give it to me. Now Dolly what can I do to get it back?

BLUE EYES. This should be a lesson to you to keep your ring if you ever get it back. You might have your father or brother or a policeman to go with you to get it. Maybe the man has pawned it or lost it, but he should get you another one, or pay you what it cost.

Dear Dolly—Please publish a READER.

FHI a pie shell, already baked with sliced bananas and powdered sugar. Put in the oven a few minutes until the fruit softens. Very nice, but far better to cover the top with whipped cream and serve at once. Flavor with lemon.

Dear Dolly—Will you please print some things that are usually done at a Hallowe'en party? I want to have one and I don't know just exactly how to go about it.

MISS GREENHORN.

If you don't mind messing up your home, your decorations should be of autumn leaves, corn stalks, pumpkins and red apples. Fasten the leaves around the hall, and at intervals suspend apples from a cord. In the corners build up stacks of corn stalks like an Indian wigwam. The pumpkins should be cut out like a human face, and place a lighted candle in each one. One Hallowe'en game which gives lots of fun is played by placing a large tub on the floor. Fill it with water and let apples float on top. Give a prize to those who can bite an apple off the tub.

Another game is this: Peel an apple in one continuous ring and throw the peeling over your left shoulder. The initial it forms will be that of your future husband. For refreshments, serve sweet elder doughnuts and ginger cakes.

Keeping Millions Free From Colds and La Grippe

W. H. HILL'S LIFE WORK

Colds cause more illness than any other human ailment. Realizing this 50 years ago, W. H. Hill determined to develop a quick-acting scientifically correct cold and la grippe remedy.

Years of research brought success. Mr. Hill discovered a most remarkable formula. He backed it with energy, faith, integrity and a name that meant "satisfaction or money back."

Today more than 4,000,000 families—one-fifth of America's population—use and recommend Hill's Cascara Bismuth Balsam.

The formula has never been changed in a quarter century. What Hill's has done for millions, it can do for you. Demand a free bearing Mr. Hill's portrait. All drugists, 30 cents.

The afternoon was pleasantly spent in talking of happy days which had been passed in the surrounding neighborhood by most of those present. Late in the afternoon they departed for their homes with the understanding that they were to meet at the same place the last Sunday in September, 1924.

The two oldest persons present were Charles Wurrock of Kehoe, Ky., who is about 80 years of age, and his sister, Mrs. America Wurrock Meadows of Greenup, Ky., 77 years old.

Members of the Justamee Club will be entertained on Friday afternoon, October 18th, at the home of Mrs. R. B. Cunningham of 1811 Hutchins street.

The many friends of Mrs. Sue Rosenthal, who recently underwent an operation in the Jewish Hospital in Cincinnati, will be sorry to learn that she is not so well, but are hopeful that she will gradually recover her former good health.

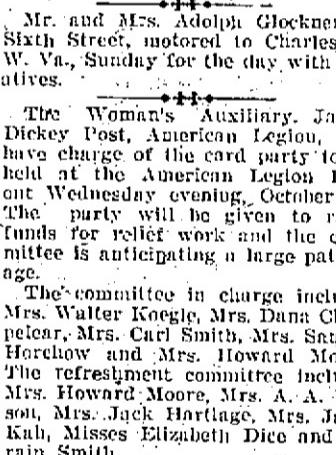

Mr. Louis Levi of Twenty-First Street has arrived home from a two week's visit to relatives and friends in Baltimore and Washington. Mrs. Levi and son, Bernard, remained in Baltimore for a month's extended visit to home folks.

MISTER DODGER FINDS SOMETHING

So off they all started.

THE days got colder and colder in Squally-Moo Land. Jack Frost and all his fairy helpers, sweating at the waist and flare out into a circular skirt with bustle at the hips. Others have longer sleeves for street wear. Some even come in coat style.

Then there are clever little velvet frocks for this fall; Diana fashion says so and you'd dare not disobey her edict and still be considered ultra in style. But I feel sure that you'll not argue with her at all, but will willingly add a charming rich frock of velvet to your collection, when you see these lovely new velvets that were just unpacked at The Fashion this morning. I was there when the New York express arrived and when the parcels were opened you never heard such Oh's and Ah's from the sales folks and myself.

The dresser ones are of glossy chiffon velvet. Some have tiny sleeves (just a band) fit snugly at the waist and flare out into a circular skirt with bustle at the hips. Others have longer sleeves for street wear. Some even come in coat style.

And who should be there but Miss Duck and Mister Dodge and all their fat children taking a bath.

"My! my! But we were dirty!" cried Miss Duck. "We got into some black dirt down there in the hollow and we looked like chimney sweeps."

"Black dirt!" exclaimed Mister Dodge. "Show us exactly where it is, please."

"Follow that little path," said Miss Duck, pointing with her bill. "And you'll come to it."

Away went the three of them, and pretty soon they came to the place. It wasn't a pretty place and nothing much grew there except weeds.

"Mister Dodge got down on his knees and picked up some things that looked like black stones. "It's coal!" he cried. "We must let Farmer Brown know at once. Then he can sell it and get enough money to buy food for the Squally-Moo Landers all winter."

"Let's take a walk, and perhaps we can think better," suggested Mister Dodge, lighting his corn-husk pipe and putting on his corn-husk hat.

They walked through the corn-field and up the lane past the winter wheat field that Charlie and Bob, and the big

"And who are you?" snapped Jingo. "Oh," replied the brown man, "I'm a gingerbread man and I've been stuck in that old oven with a lot of plain old potatoes. I'm mad at the cook. Let's throw the potatoes at him."

So they all were soon picking potatoes out of the oven.

Of course, Clatter Legs could grab even the hottest potatoes without hurting his hands. For they were made of metal. But Jack and Jingo had to be careful. Finally they all rushed to the kitchen and started heating the soft potatoes out toward the cook. (Continued.)

PRESBYTERIAN SYNOD IN FULL SWING: DR. MCLEOD MODERATOR

Inspiring Address Is Made
By Dr. George P. Horst At Noon Meeting; Dr. Wishart
Will Speak This Evening

The great forward movement which is inspiring thousands of men throughout the Synod of Ohio to gather under the standard of the Cross is growing into proportions which will make the men's work of the church the greatest power for the advancement of the Kingdom of Christ. Rev. Dr. George P. Horst, field secretary of the Assembly Committee on men's work, declared before the annual men's work banquet of the Synod at the First Presbyterian Church today:

Speaking with Dr. Horst were Dr. Charles F. Wishart, moderator of the general assembly, and Dr. Moses Breeze, Synodical Forward Movement leader. These two men cut short the time of their addresses to allow the former local pastor more time for his address.

The dining hall at First church was packed when Dr. Horst began his address. The two hundred and seventy-five men who are commissioners to the Synod, and a large number of Portsmouth visitors were gathered about the tables. Moderator McLeod pronounced the blessing and Rev. Dr. Lucecock the benediction.

"The church is face to face with the problem of revamping herself," Dr. Horst declared. "Her greatest need as well as her most remarkable opportunity is to enlist the man power in the cause we represent."

The men of today seek spirituality. The shallowness of mere ritualism does not appear to the red-blooded twentieth century man. He wants a deep and lasting religion, one that brings him into contact with God and stimulates his life to greater and better things. Lodges do not fill this need. I am a member of a dozen lodges, but I do know whereof I speak, but I do know this, that the lodge that has lived the longest, the Masonic, has gone because of the great spiritual contacts which it offers to men."

"There is a vast difference between seeing and knowing Christ. Men in this day and age do not want to see the Christ in picture. They want to know him." At press time this afternoon the retiring moderator, Rev. W. L. Whallon, made a report on men's work and Dr. Horst and Dr. Breeze will speak again late this afternoon.

Dr. Wishart will speak at a banquet in Second Church tonight to be followed by a pageant and an address by Dr. King.

This Morning's Session

With the election of a moderator over, and the tumult and shouting dead, the Presbytery of Ohio settled down to routine business this morning. The reports of the various boards of the church occupied the attention of the ministerial and lay delegates when they assembled in the auditorium of the First Presbyterian church.

Dr. Charles F. Wishart, Moderator of the General Assembly of the Presbyterian church of the U. S., the highest court of the church, thrice head of the denomination, conducted the devotional exercises which opened the morning session.

Dealing with the "necessity of deep spiritual life" Dr. Wishart urged upon the body of the church, as well as the spiritual leaders, ministerial and lay, the "responsibility of consecration, and the great need for lives of bigness and spiritual earnestness."

Dr. Wishart is a remarkable speaker, English more beautiful than that used by the Moderator has seldom been heard in Portsmouth. National orator in his college days, he has really lived in the pulpit and platform all his life, and his message always reaches his hearers with force and convincing power.

Mayor's Address

Mayor William N. Gableman delivered the address of welcome, representing the city of Portsmouth. The mayor said:

My friends:

Speaking as I do, both as a Presbyterian and as representative of Portsmouth's citizenship, words are unnecessary to bespeak the pleasure of all in having this session of Ohio Synod held in our peerless city.

A single glance at your program would attract the interest of even a casual observer. There is so much on your calendar that of necessity concerns those problems to-day gripping a topsy-turvy world. It would seem to me that the thoughtful person of any shade of opinion must approve your free discussions and commend this zeal of consecrated men toward alleviation of humanity's distresses.

Happily for all of us, your hours here are not to be all of work. The schedule discloses diversions that are pleasant for your entertainment, in which we may also share and their elevating character, I know, will be echoed in this community. Indeed all of us have so far a prospect for these three days that we who are unfortunately—and unjustly—looked down upon as politicians, may take a lesson from our Synod. Your calendar is so well ordered that you will get a maximum of business transacted in a minimum of time. Whatever may be the perplexities of the business sessions, they can be relieved by the social intervals spent with friends, both old and new.

What a thrill comes to us in considering that the governing body of a mighty church in our great state now has its seat in this city. The state of Ohio, I am told, has 611 Presbyterian Churches and 616 ministers in this faith. Its 15 Presbyteries, with the 150,000 communicants, has sent some 225 representatives to this gathering. They are equally divided between Clergy and Laity, and in this division we find that democratic spirit so warmly approved by free-governed peoples. Over 100,000 members are in Presbyterian Sunday Schools; over $2,000,000 are annually given to the church. Proudly may we proclaim that over one half of this goes into the Missionary and other welfare movements of the denomination.

I am reminded that this is to be the last biennial meeting of Synod, and that future sessions will be held at

The Churches' Welcome

Speaking for the churches of Portsmouth, Rev. William H. Gleiser, popular pastor of the First Presbyterian church, welcomed the commissioners to the River City. He emphasized the honor which the three Portsmouth Presbyterian churches felt in entertaining the Synod, and stressed the importance of the church in the national life.

Other routine business occupied the morning's session including committee assignments and the hearing of reports.

Rev. Sam'l J. Fisher reported for the Board of Freedmen; Rev. Robt. E. Pugh for the Westminster Foundation; Rev. William Houston for Ohio State University; Rev. G. D. Wilson for Lane Seminary; Rev. Dr. Charles F. Wishart for the College of Wooster; Rev. J. C. Stephens for the committee on Education; Rev. J. A. Verber on Spiritual Values in Education.

General committee appointments announced by Moderator McLeod this morning include:

Bills and Overtures—Albert G. Wilcox, S. M. F. Nesbit, Ed. P. Whallon, G. Persinger and E. G. Ains.

Judicial—Charles C. McKinney, John W. Neel, Kensey J. Stewart, O. H. Brady and C. N. Lamson.

Finance—Charles L. Zorbaugh, Chas. P. Winger, Reginald Colenius, James H. Neel and Fred G. Prout.

Leave of Absence—Flury H. Tengor, Morley S. Portis, Harald G. Rice, Herbert Corry and Frank A. Hanna.

Minutes of General Assembly—Glen Mat Queen, J. King Gibson, William C. Burns, David H. McGregor and J. S. Penrod.

Place of Meeting—Edwin D. Townsend, Hugh Ivan Evans, J. Leslie French, Jerry Morrow, Edwin M. Matusfield.

One of the interesting moments of the morning session came when Dr. Moses Breeze, following Dr. Wishart's report on the College of Wooster, moved that the congratulations of the Synod be sent to Revs. Samuel S. Palmer of Columbus, who this week are celebrating the twenty-fifth anniversary of their pastorate in the Broad Street Presbyterian church.

Moderator Wishart of the General Assembly seconded the motion, acting on the privilege of his position and Dr. Lucecock of Wooster moved to amend by also directing that the sympathy of the Synod be sent to Dr. William G. Thompson, president of Ohio State University who is ill at his home in Columbus.

The motion carried unanimously.

The Opening Session

The opening session last night was featured by the election of a Moderator, a sermon by Moderator Walter L. Whallon and the administration of the Holy Communion.

The large number in attendance filled the main floor of the auditorium of Second church.

The attendance at the opening session of the Synod was very surprising and gratifying to those in charge of plans for the meeting here. Close to 250 delegates and visitors were in attendance last night about 45 delegates coming in on the 7:30 train from Columbus. Some of the delegates brought their families which has caused the total number of visitors to go far over the number expected. As contingent upon this very program, we had to make hurried plans to provide rooms for the many unexpected visitors.

As an industrial city we, of course, have the problem of floating population and such sensational news goes out from here concerning this type.

From a dozen years' experience about the City Hall I can say advisedly that no community can boast of more law-abiding citizens than we have among our native born.

There is scarcely a business of size here but has its directing heads, not other products may be taken by train or truck, steamship or barge.

We think thus at our possibilities unlimited, but our boast is and you will discover, our eminence in other than industrial lines. In this regard our good citizenship is reflected in our schools and schools and in our large percentage of homeowners and the splendid community life in our adjacent farms. Lure of nature draws in the beauties of our hills and valleys and this is now claimed by the state's acquiring the Roosevelt Game Preserve in the Eastern Hills. Over 150,000 acres of almost virgin woodland are in the hands of our citizens.

With deer, pheasant and other wild game both furred and floral. When the Atlantic and Pacific Highway is completed the passing tourist will never miss out this setting down of Western Hills.

German Government Ready To Resume Operations In The Ruhr

BERLIN, Oct. 10—By the A. P.—The German government has instructed its representatives at Paris and Brussels officially to ask the French and Belgian governments whether they now need to enter into negotiations with the German government for the resumption of work in the occupied territories. It is stated that only when replies are received will the government define its attitude toward the German industrialists' demands.

Suspend New Order.
DUISSELDORF, October 10—(By the A. P.)—The decision of the Ruhr mining employers' association to increase the miners' working hours was suspended before it became operative. The suspension is understood to have been due to the intervention of the minister of labor, who hurriedly summoned the Ruhr labor leaders to Berlin for a conference on the general labor situation.

Not Advised or Offer.
PARIS, Oct. 10—(By the A. P.)—The French government is ready for negotiations with the object of bringing about an early revival of the economic life of the Ruhr. It is stated by a foreign office official tonight, however, that France and Belgium will adhere to the policy they long ago decided upon, that is that they will not send delegations to the Ruhr to meet representatives of the German government, but will continue their negotiations direct with the Ruhr in this and will wait for the action of the inter-allied reparations commission on any proposition Berlin has to offer.

BRUSSELS, Oct. 10—(By the A. P.)—Belgian official circles are optimistic over the situation in the Ruhr. Advises reaching the government show the resumption of work on a daily increasing scale. The Belgian officials in the valley declare the 170,000 workers and other railroad employees in the occupied territory are ready to go back to their jobs as soon as assurances are given that the Berlin government will guarantee the payment of their wages and authorize them to take the oath of professional allegiance to the Franco-Belgian Railroad management.

France Also Optimistic.
PARIS, Oct. 14—(By the A. P.)—French official circles were frankly optimistic today over the situation in the Ruhr, for the first time since the announcement in Berlin of the cessation of passive resistance.

The accord signed between French commissioners on mine control and representatives of leading German industrialists yesterday at Duesseldorf providing for the immediate resumption of coal deliveries on the reparation account is regarded as a real step forward in solution of the reparations trouble.

The French government will refer the accord to the reparation committee for its information and for any action it sees fit to take concerning the bearing of the accord on the commission's prerogatives. The Belgian government will also be notified and the British government will be informed as soon as deliveries are resumed under the agreement.

Twenty German business houses have already applied to the allied commission for permits to export goods, indicating their willingness to result in a fire, sometimes a con-pay the export tax of 26 per cent imposed by the allies.

Reports from the occupied territory indicate that the railroad employees soon will follow the miners back to work, when, it is said, the allies will consider the passive resistance to have been effectively terminated. It is thought likely also that Chancellor Stresemann of Germany will then be heard from with a new proposal for a reparation settlement.

Germany to Co-operate.
PARIS, Oct. 10—(By the A. P.)—Germany has expressed to the Belgian government her desire to co-operate with Belgium and France in the complete resumption of the economic life of the Ruhr and to resume her deliveries of coal on the reparations account, says the Brussels correspondent of L'Intransigeant.

To Spend $800,000 On School Buildings
HUNTINGTON, W. Va., October 10.—The board of education last night launched almost in its entirety its $800,000 school building program under a plan which would have four by the new structures.

Scouts To Distribute X-mas Toys
Boy Scout Troop No. 15 met last night in weekly session. Scout Master Orval Morris conducted the meeting and lectured on "Being a Good Scout." Five more were in attendance this week than last, according to the report of Scouting James Thomas, who is one Scout sick.

Plans are being made for Scout activities during the winter, especially for the collection and distribution by Scouts of toys to the poor at Christmas time. Any person having toys for this purpose is requested to call either 175-R or 1806-L.

Fire Prevention Talk No. 3
IRONTON, Ohio, Oct. 10—Rev. and Mrs. Albert L. Clary are leaving next Monday for their new home at Beaver, O., where Rev. Mr. Clary has been assigned to Beaver. They have a splendid six room parsonage awaiting them and are anticipating with great joy the Rev. Mr. Clary's first regular appointment in the M. E. Conference. Mr. Clary preached his farewell sermon in the United Rescue Mission Sunday night and the rather spacious building was crowded to its capacity. The popular pastor was given a cordial and heartfelt farewell, the congregation making up a splendid purse for him.

Three years as pastor of United Rescue Mission has given Rev. Mr. Clary an insight into his work. They have been successful and joyful years.

The change to Beaver is recognition of Rev. Mr. Clary's fitness and qualifications as a minister and in our mind his advancement in church work will be rapid and gratifying.

Andrew Appel, 22, ten-year-old, obtained a license to marry Clara R. Koger, 20, daughter of George and Mary Koger, of this city.

Bill Thompson rented the Leopold Kessler building on Chillicothe street and proposed to open a butcher shop. John T. Norris, widely known throughout the town, was in town, presumably to investigate the Meade homestead robbery here of Sciotoville.

Frank Pratt completed arrangements for the Cincinnati Reds to appear here in an exhibition game.

Attorneys E. K. Walsh and J. S. Thomas and W. A. Connolly opened the Democratic speaking campaign with rally at South Webster.

Matches and smoking cause an annual fire loss of more than $26,000,000. This figure would be reduced materially if accumulations of refuse and dirt were not permitted. Too many burning matches find a final resting place in piles of combustible waste material which should have been disposed of as soon as accumulated. The expert in his line.

Rebuilds Violins
L. M. Parsons, who rebuilds violins and has 25 years experience in this line, has opened a work shop at 1010 Galla street. He reconstructs hand-made violins and is said to be an expert in his line.

Gallipolis Clerk Cleared
COLUMBUS, Oct. 10—E. J. Wilson, chief clerk of the State Hospital for Epileptics at Gallipolis, against whom charges of gross neglect and cruelty had been filed with State Welfare Director Harper, was completely exonerated. In a report filed today with Gov. Donanby by H. J. Burton, a special investigator sent to the institution by the Chief Executive.

"It is respectfully suggested from the investigation and observation of the actions of Mr. Wilson that it would be a gross injustice to remove him from his position," Burton's report states. Mr. Wilson has been chief clerk at the institution for 20 years. It is expected that Director Harper will dismiss the charge on the basis of the Burton report.

The charges against Mr. Wilson were made in the main by former employees of the institution who were represented by Attorney R. A. Mack of Gallipolis.

Governor Donanby stated today that he had obtained expressions from numerous Gallipolis residents of both political parties and that all agreed that Dr. G. G. Kinney, superintendent, and Mr. Wilson should be left undisturbed, that the squabbles at the institution was merely among employees.

Trio Of Bankers Face Serious Charge
LEXINGTON, KY., Oct. 10—Warrants, charging embezzlement of National Bank funds making false entries were issued against Morgan May and John Milton of Lexington and C. Robert Ledford, now of Hamilton, O., all former bank employees of the Phoenix National Bank and Trust Company. May and Milton were arrested today on the warrants sworn out by District Attorneys Sawyer A. Smith on information furnished by John B. Chenault of Maysville, national bank examiner, and W. H. Courtney, vice-president of the Phoenix National Bank and Trust Company. Ledford is out of the state, but has notified bank officials he will come to Lexington to give himself up.

The men are charged with embezzling approximately $3,870 of the bank funds.

Mrs. Sarah A. Baer
Mrs. Sarah A. Baer, former well-known resident of Scioto County, passed away Monday, October 8, at her home, 100 McAllister Avenue, Columbus, following a long illness of cancer of the stomach. She submitted to a serious operation at Grant Hospital, Columbus, last April and has been bedridden ever since.

Mrs. Baer was a daughter of the late Peter Tatman and Rhema Holt of McDermott. She was born at Friendship November 28, 1872. She leaves her husband, Will E. Baer, and the following children: Mrs. Dolcie Stew, Mrs. Edith Bard, Mrs. Ruthine Cook and John Baer, all of Columbus, and the following children at home: William, Jr., Austin and two girls, Vesta and Velma. The following brothers and sisters also survive: Joseph Tatman, Second street; Will Tatman, McDermott; L. G. Tatman, Struthers, Ohio; Mrs. Dora Sudler, 612 Market street; Mrs. Clara Oakes, New Boston; Mrs. Bertha George, Columbus; Mrs. R. Payne, who is now deceased, was a sister Mrs. E. Davis, of Union Mills; Harry Sheets, of Seventeenth street; W. M. Payne, Second street, and Mrs. Marie Cade, of New Boston; are nieces and nephews of the deceased.

The husband was formerly a printer on The Times working here about 22 years ago. He has been working on the Ohio State Journal since taking up his residence in Columbus.

The funeral services will be held in the home in Columbus Thursday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. A number of relatives from Portsmouth and McDermott will attend.

William Eskew, Jr., one of the city's popular young men, and a world war veteran who gave all for his country, died late Tuesday afternoon at the government hospital, Camp Sherman, Chillicothe. As a member of the Fifth Division, he contracted trench disease while overseas, from the effects of which death ensued, despite operations which amputated both legs in vain efforts to stop its steady inroads on his health. Both operations were performed at a local hospital, and Mr. Eskew was only transferred to the Chillicothe institution July 1, last.

Mr. Eskew was the only son of Mr. and Mrs. William Eskew, Sr., 825 Third Street, born 20 years ago last February 12. He was associated with his father in the printing business when able to work.

Besides the parents, he is survived by his grandmother, Mrs. Barbara Miller, 827 Murray Street.

Mr. Eskew had countless friends in the city who were pained to learn of his death. He fought a noble fight against odds and never lost his smile. He was confident that he would ultimately recover but it was not to be and popular, affable and gentle "Billy" Eskew Jr. has passed on.

The funeral services will be conducted from the Eskew home, 225 Third street, at 10:30 a.m. Wednesday and the last rites will be in charge of Rev. Hugh L. Evans. Interment will take place in Greenlawn.

Funeral services will be held Thursday morning at 8 o'clock at St. Mary's church for Mrs. Catherine Reitz Vollmer, who died Tuesday morning at her home, 1731 Seventh street. Burial will be in Greenlawn.

Mrs. Laura Moorhead
Death at 9:30 o'clock Wednesday morning claimed Mrs. Laura Moorhead, wife of Albert S. Moorhead, of 1233 Ninth street, after a long illness of paralysis. Mrs. Moorhead suffered a broken hip in a fall between her first and second strokes. Her last stroke was on September 23. Her condition had been considered dangerous since August 3, from which time she had been bed-

Rail Issues Boost Bond Market

NEW YORK, Oct. 10.—Buying of rail bonds more than eliminated prices in the foreign group was limited in the early trading in bonds sold. Native U. S. Government bonds were relatively steady.

Trading in the foreign group was limited to South American issues, which moved irregularly. A fair de-sale of 100,000 shares of the Industrial Company was made by the New York Stock Exchange.

Telephone Trouble Causes You Inconvenience

Here's How You Can Help Prevent It

Do not "bang" the receiver on the hook nor handle the telephone roughly. There are more than 200 parts to the instrument, some of which may be shaken loose.

Do not place wet coats, umbrellas, mops or other damp articles near the telephone or on the cords. Dampness may make the line "noisy" or put the telephone entirely out of order.

In case of trouble we are generally the first to know it, but if at any time your telephone does not work properly, please report it to our "Repair Clerk".

Although you do not see a man working on your telephone, you may be assured that your report is receiving attention. The trouble may be at the central office or somewhere along your line.

Telephone troubles impair the service for every patron and our first consideration is to clear them as promptly as possible.

McDermott Will Be The Scene Of Big Diamond Contest Sunday Afternoon

The stage is "all set" for a big day in McDermott Saturday when the village champs will entertain the Hays Motor men in a combat for diamond honors. The event promises to be a red letter day in the history of the thriving village, and elaborate arrangements are being made by Manager John Simon and his assistants to take care of the big crowd that will be present to see the contest, which promises to be a grim and desperate struggle from start to finish.

McDermott is less than thirty minutes' drive from Portsmouth and the road leading to the village is one of the best in the county, from all indications a big delegation of fans will take advantage of the opportunity to motor out and observe the pastime and at the same time enjoy the trip. An additional attraction is offered to fans to visit the Late Taylor museum and view the most splendid as well as the biggest collection of hunting trophies of wild game in this section of the country. The museum will be open at all times and visitors are welcome to visit it before or after the game without cost.

The McDermott brigade has run up a big list of victories for the season and by reason of having bowed over practically all opposing in three parts, are claiming the amateur championship of the county. While the villagers may have over-estimated their strength and still in bucking, the strong Hays Motor boys, yet the Rush township champions are conceded to have sufficient strength to offer real opposition to the local aggregation and may prove a real tartar for the Hays gang to handle.

Other Lewis will be on the hill for the invaders, with that clever back-

Crabbe Replies To Donahey

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 10—Replying to a statement issued by Governor Donahey yesterday in defense of the state blue sky department, attorney-general Crabbe today reiterated his charge that "From the time the blue sky law was upheld by the supreme court of the United States which was during the administration of Gov. Cox down to the present time, the securities department has aided, shielded and protected the Dollings Concerns," the defunct R. L. Dollings Company of Ohio and its subsidiaries.

The attorney-general also denied statements of the Governor that the securities department had had nothing to do with the Dollings Company, renewing charges that Curtis Locher, director of commerce had conferred with officials of the company shortly before receivership proceedings were initiated. Locher had previously denied such statements.

"It appears that the Dollings Company had nothing to fear from the present securities department and I defy the Governor or the department to point out one thing which either of them had done to protect the people against the Dollings frauds."

Delay The Measure

BERLIN, Oct. 10.—(By the Associated Press)—The nationalists and communists in the Reichstag voting jointly succeeded today in effecting postponement until Thursday of the third reading of Chancellor Stresemann's authorization bill giving him wide authority in the dictation of measures for economic rehabilitation. The indication was they hoped ultimately to defeat the measure through filibustering tactics.

Safest Way To Get Rid Of A Cold

TAKE FATHER JOHN'S MEDICINE

If you have a cold and start taking "immediate relief" medicines, you are gambling with health and even life itself. Such medicines depend upon narcotics which paralyze the nerves and allow the cold to become deeply seated in your system.

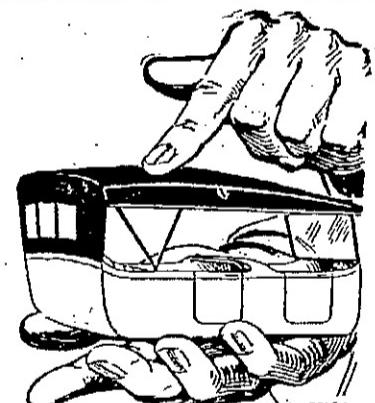

The logical way to treat a cold is by using Father John's Medicine which gives strength to throw off the impurities, soothes and heals the lining of the breathing passages, and in the natural way helps your system to entirely get rid of the cold.

The basis of Father John's Medicine has always been end liver oil, and by our scientific process it is so compounded with other ingredients that it is readily taken up even by a weakened digestive system. It is guaranteed free from narcotic drugs or stimulants.

Hatfield Horses Sold

The Irontonians says: "Quite a number of interested local men attended the sale of the Hatfield horses, held at the fair grounds at Ironton, Tuesday morning. The twenty-two animals, for sale and the racing equipment were estimated to have brought approximately $12,000 by those who attended."

"Four of the best horses in the outfit; a brood mare and a colt were bought by Bob Brumner, who is understood to represent a company of local men, and will be brought back to this country. Mr. Brumner bid in Henry Direct at $3000, West Virginia at $1100, Robby Commodore at $1100, George Rust at $225, the broad mane Florence McKinney and young colt at $900.

"Bobby Direct, a brother of Henry Direct, brought $800. Northbound, blind horse, went to a Newark man at $625. A two year old colt of Florence McKinney was bid in by Elmer Hatfield.

"Cliff Ball bid in The Jaw, a colt of Herman Salle's horse.

"The horses brought much less than their actual worth in the opinion of the local men attending, who stated experienced horsemen at the sale spoke highly of the unexpected breeding of the top notchers of the string. U. M. Edwards, administrator of the Hatfield estate, Brook Capper, W. A. Russell, Clas. Folt and several other Ironton men attended the sale."

WOMAN'S HEALTH RESTORED

She Claims Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Did It After Everything Else Failed

Milwaukee, Wis.—"I feel that I ought to let you know about my case."

I was all tired and couldn't do my housework and washing. I was run-down, just from having one child. I took a lot of medicines and had doctors. Then I gave them all up and took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I feel wonderfully good now. I do everything that comes along, and we all take your medicine as a tonic when we don't feel just so. I am thankful for what the Vegetable Compound has done for my health and for my family."

Mrs. MARY SATECHECK, 944 28th St., Milwaukee, Wisconsin.

Letters like these testify to the value of the Vegetable Compound. These women speak from the fullness of their hearts. They describe as correctly as they can their conditions: First, those symptoms that affected them most conspicuously; and later the disappearance of those symptoms. They are sincere expressions of gratitude. For nearly fifty years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been so praised by women,

The air necessary for combustion in burner is controlled by air shutter which you can turn slightly from time to time to obtain just the right mixture of air and gas to produce the blue non-luminous flame, which gives the most intense heat. Avoid yellow or red flames which blacken utensils and waste fuel.

Clean your cooking burners often. The small burner holes frequently become clogged, prevent the free passage of gas and thus hinder the cooking.

Both teams will take the field with the line-ups and batting orders they used in the pennant fights in their leagues. Walter Pipp, Yankee first baseman, who injured his right ankle several weeks ago, will be at his post as usual, the injury to the ankle having passed past the danger point. Should the ankle become too painful to play, however, Ruth probably will be called in from right-field to first and Harvey Hendrick, the tall, heavy hitting newcomer, sent to the outer garden.

In the early forenoon a crowd of more than 1,000 persons had lined up at the ticket gates. The first in line for the reserved seats were Mr. and Mrs. James W. Aldridge, of Raton, New Mexico, and their friends, Mr. and Mrs. John Dee, of Elizabethtown, N. Y. They arrived at the stadium at 5:00 A.M.

When the Bronx factory whistles shrilled "noon" today the echoes reverberated to the half-filled grand stands of the Yankee Stadium.

Two hours before game time the reserved section of the grand stand swayed wildly for the other humans who shortly were to fill the vast enclosure, when "play ball" was called. Three-fourths of the cheerleader seats were occupied by those who came to line up and scrambled for long distance views and the mezzanine floor, second deck of the monster stand, was nearly filled, and the third tier had a big share of customers.

While "hot dogs" and cool drink vendors hurried through the stands, the fans got into the clamorous world series atmosphere watching Nick Altrock and Al Schachl, the high comedians of the Diamond, go through their perennial stunts and a few new ones—including a boxing match pantomime. It was perfect Indian summer weather—bright sun that bright out all the color and dried the playing field and a cool atmosphere that made for sunny play and a comfortable time watching it. Early customers were top-coats.

There was a splash of color in the outfield bleachers where hundreds of white coated vendors wended about the crowd.

A brass band attired in white and grey uniforms, copied after those of the men of West Point, made music for a while and then rose to stretch and yawn, a few blancherettes struck up the merry dirge of cowbells. Batteries of camera men took their positions on a special stand or went to the dugout to await the appearance of the players. Rows of bats were laid out, the newly whitened bags placed at their proper positions and a batting cage set behind the plate. The playing field looked soft and smooth.

The Giants, holders of the title, were the first to appear. They came in bright new visitors uniforms and were led by Paul (Irish) Mensel, whose brother Bob will be bat-

Just before Papyrus was taken around, Zev was sent out for a three furlong sprint. The Rateocas colt, just breeding, turned the three eighths in 37. That racing followers, however, are conceding Papyrus a better chance than at first, was indicated today when a bet of $10,000 to $5,000 was reported placed on Zev representing a considerable shortening of odds.

latest sentimental ballads in a nasal tenor, not so good; an old white bearded fellow with a dented corner and a lot of molasses popular in 1898, and a darky with a banjo and a little ditty with no tune but a thousand verses.

Boys with baskets of sandwiches and buckets of coffee, lemonade and other nameless concoctions, barked their wares among the waiting crowds. There were all sorts of novelty vendors—men with field glasses for fifty cents, entering in the blancheries; others with pennants and various sorts of novelty souvenirs.

Over the slinging of the minstrels, and the barking of the vendors could be heard the hum of baseball argument, but the dogs all slumped down to this:

Two years running the Giants, under dogs in the dope and the betting have been the victors. Again this year they are rated below the Yankees whose powerful staff of pitchers, "Murderer's Row" of hitters and all-round star Ruth, are believed by the experts to be invincible. Yet John McGraw and his Giants are confidently predicting that another world title will fly over their home lot.

The series this year, as in 1922, will be of seven games, the team winning four games taking the championship. McGraw's pitching news are Artie Neft, John Scott, Hugh McMillan and "Rosy" Ryan, while Huggins has Peacock, Hoyt, Jones and Shawkey among the dependable. Neft, McGraw's ace last year, along with John Scott and McMillan, probably will get the first call and Peacock, Hoyt and Jones may be expected to do the bulk of the work for Huggins.

Both teams will take the field with the line-ups and batting orders they used in the pennant fights in their leagues. Walter Pipp, Yankee first baseman, who injured his right ankle several weeks ago, will be at his post as usual, the injury to the ankle having passed past the danger point. NEITHER DEFENSE NOR ACQUITTANCE

The New York Journal of Commerce sweepingly asserts that everybody now acknowledges that the course of the United States immediately following the war was all wrong and that had we acquitted our allies of their debts to us they would have been in better mood to impose reparations, or tributes upon Germany that she can pay. So we would have been spared in great part this world distress.

Two violent assumptions are involved in that statement. Not everybody, of a truth nobody, but a very few international financiers, agrees America should have canceled all claims for war loans advanced by her. There is not a scintilla of fact to assume that had she, Great Britain, France, Italy would have been any the less yielding in the terms they imposed upon Germany.

Neither is there any logic in the argument of the Journal that because France and Italy are apparently determined not to pay the United States anything until Germany pays them, the debts owing by them to us should be entered on the loss side of our national ledger. For Jones to say that he will not pay Smith because Black owes him and will not pay is quite conclusive that Jones has all the elements of a thief.

It may be that Germany can not pay all that is levied against her. She is not disclosing any purpose, let alone any desire, to pay so much as a part of it. Therein she shows she is a worse debtor and a harsher collector than are her conquerors. When she won the victory and marched into Paris to display her power and glory, she told France what she had to pay and pay promptly and she enforced the terms without hesitation or concession of a centime.

Right there we find the real nub of all this trouble. The allies should have marched into Berlin and laid down the terms from there. Had they there wouldn't be all this pollywogging now and France and Italy couldn't plead they couldn't pay until Germany paid—Germany would be paying and paying hugely.

HE ALWAYS CAN

The Akron Press says it is asked if a man can sue for breach of promise. It answers he can. That is altogether true. Every newspaper is asked every once in awhile: Can I sue for this or that? There is only one answer to that. Suit can be brought for any imaginable grievance, wrong or violated right. The question of maintaining the action, getting any judgment, or recovering in any way, is another matter.

It is the intention of the law to give every man redress for any injury suffered, to furnish him enforcement of every right he has. No court can consider any matter before it is submitted to it, can not determine its merits until the law is applied to it, or the evidence submitted. Therefore it is that its doors are always open to any complaint or applicant, whatever.

Native Gallilean To Speak In First Christian Church

What is expected to be a rare treat for students of the New Testament scriptures, will be the address to be delivered by Stephen A. Haboush at the First Christian church, next Tuesday evening, under the auspices of the Woman's Missionary Society. Mr. Haboush, who has a world wide reputation as a lecturer, is known as a "Twentieth Century Gallilean." He was born on the hills of Galilee and was a Palestine shepherd in his youth. He was educated abroad and in America and has traveled in every country on the globe.

Mr. Haboush will bring a thrilling, gripping lecture, which will be illustrated by four reels of motion pictures, which he had taken under his own personal direction and which cost him in the neighborhood of $25,000. He will carry you to the banks of the Jordan river; you stand with him in the market places of ancient Jerusalem; you gaze with him upon the roses of Sharon. More than that, he interprets the scriptures in the light of place and people. His is the message of faith—the old faith of the fathers.

Mr. Haboush will visit several Bible schools in this city next Sunday morning, where he will make short talks. He is expected to fill the pulpit at the First Christian church, Sunday morning. According to reports, he is one of the most interesting and eloquent lecturers on the platform. He addressed the big Methodist conference held in Columbus recently, and held the audience spell bound, despite the fact he was talking at the midnight hour. Several Methodists from this city heard him, and all unite in saying the address was wonderful from every viewpoint.

Tickets for this lecture will be sold by the woman of the First Christian Missionary Society, although the men of the church have practically underwritten all expense. Tickets will be 35 cents for adults and 25 cents for children.
